

ליל הושענה רבה תשפ"א

Dear Mispallel,

Following on from the Rov Shlita's shiur we want to reiterate the points the Rov Brought up in regard to the forthcoming Yom Tov.

We are living in unprecedented times, where everything must be seen through the prism of the sakonos we are facing. We have very limited space in our Shtieble, and distancing is at best difficult. Therefore we must know who wants to have a seat for Yom Tov, this is imperative and we ask you for your cooperation.

Masks must be worn, if you have a medical reason that precludes this, please tell us in advance so we can try to place you in a safe place.

Sadly we cannot have dancing during hafkofos, instead we ask that everyone sing and dances in place.

The Leining will be done as we have had to during this difficult time.

There will be no kideishim and whilst children not yet in High-School will not be able to come to shul, we will however be sending all our children pekalach lekovad Yom Tov.

The Gabbaim

A personal note from the Rav Shlita

Dear Friends,

These are difficult times, and to say anything else would be superfluous. We are a small chevra with limited room, but I have personally witnessed that you have great hearts. We will get through this challenge, every generation has been asked to face their own nisyonus, and we can overcome ours.

I plead with each of you to help one another find the inner strength to be besimcha, yet being aware of each other's safety.

Masks and distancing, together with hand washing is not merely for our own individual safety but more importantly in halocha, the safety of those near us.

Aish Kodesh is known for its warmth and caring, let us take these challenges and grow despite these challenges.

These times call for us to step up and watch out for one another, let none of us be found wanting.

May we be zoche to seeing the coming of the Moshiach, and may we be blessed with good health, nachas and kol tov.
